

Fire HD 10, Kindle Kids Edition

I went back and forth for a while on whether to get Reese her own tablet. I was tired of her asking to use my phone so she could play games/apps and read on Epic (the reading app her teacher uses). But I didn't want her to have total freedom when it comes to screen time. This ended up being a great solution, because I control what content she has (if I don't download it, she can't access it). I can also limit her time. And the controls are actually pretty simple and easy to figure out! It's been incredibly handy during the COVID-19 pandemic, for sure!
