

Pine Mountain Java Log Firelogs

We love to gather around our backyard firepit to roast marshmallows and make s'mores. We do not love making real wood-burning fires that are actually respectable. We typically use artificial or synthetic firelogs in the firepit and our fireplace. But I have mixed feelings about cooking food over those logs, which are known sources of polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons. Java Logs are made from recycled coffee grounds and natural vegetable waxes, so they burn brighter and hotter than sawdust-based artificial logs.

Buy it here: <https://amzn.to/2KIS5uk>